Nurses Recruiting Nurses

MERCER COUNTY, NJ – Paula Doty, RN, CCHC and Marie Thompson, RN, BSN attended the Mercer County Community College Nursing Job Fair to talk to tomorrow's nurses about the career opportunities of caring for children in a pediatric medical day program.

From 3 pm to 6 pm, nursing students were able to learn about the up and coming field of pediatric medical daycare and were excited about the program's impact on the community. Nursing students were encouraged to take home additional information on the program and learn more about the alternative healthcare career opportunities offered at the facility.

The recruitment of nurses through nursing job fairs is a positive way to screen potential nursing staff and determine each candidate's skills and compatibility with the center's mission. Matching potential nursing staff to the positions are critical to the quality of care that the center's patients receive and to directly impacting each child's growth and development. The job fair was held at Mercer County Community College.
